Research Statement

The research project combines EU law, labour law and private international law.

1. EU Law. The project includes the publication of a paper based on the research I carried out during my PhD thesis, which focuses on The Notion of Worker in EU Law. The interrelationships between the notion of worker and EU citizenship will be especially examined.

2. Labour law. Parallels will be drawn between French labour law and English labour law. The obligations incumbent on each party to an employment contract will be analysed and compared.

3. Private international law. The difficulties aroused by the posting of workers in the United Kingdom will be scrutinized.
